To HPH model and product enthusiasts,

HPH museum quality models are not only replicas, they are objects d'art and reveal something of ones status and life style.

HPH models are in fact prestigious 3D objects that may be passed down through generations to come. Their owners are collectors of the finer things in life.

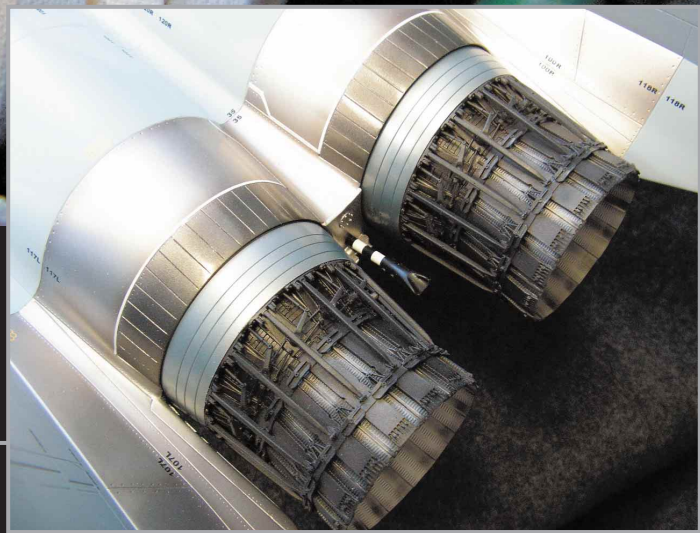

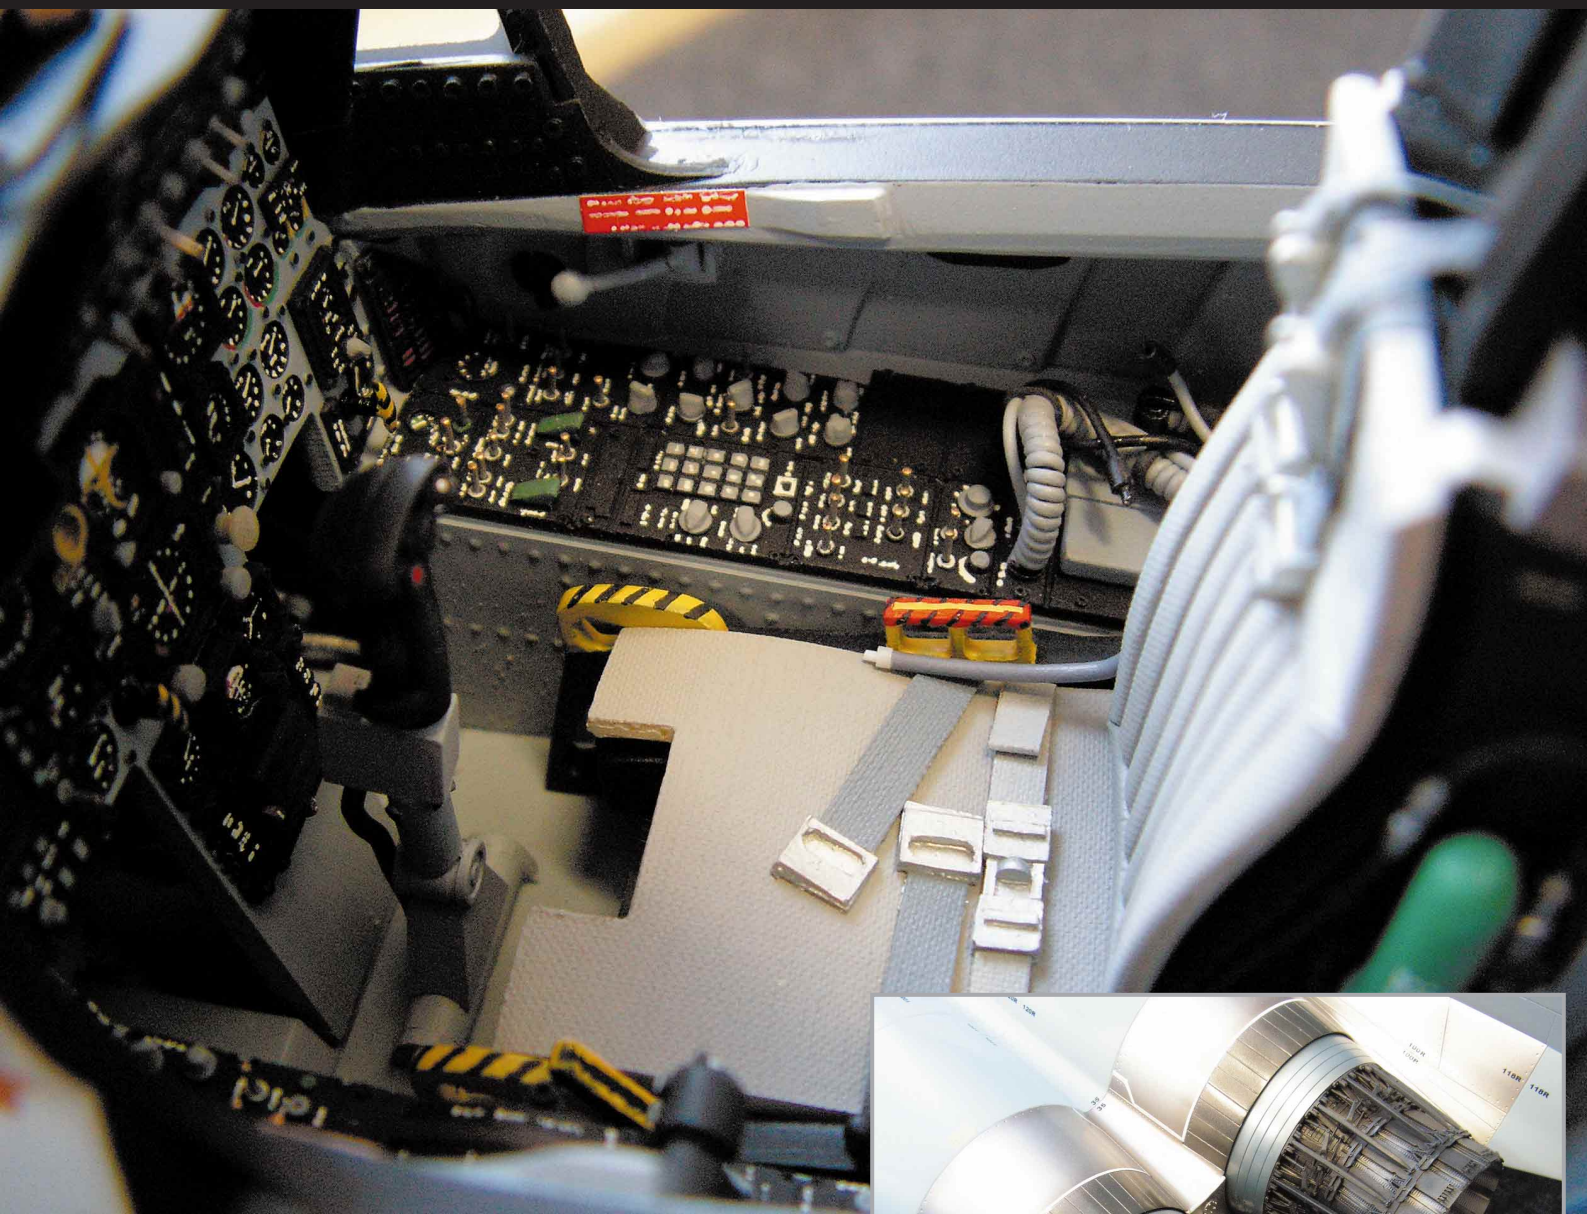

Museums use our models for long term exhibitions, companies use HPH models for prototype studies and collectors present our models as exact replicas of the originals and as rare pieces of art. Of course a wide range of pilots, airplane owners and enthusiast are our customers as well.

Each model is hand made with original painting. With our models you may own a very special, object, display piece, or promotional showroom decoration.

The catalog represents only a few images of the products hand crafted by HPH, if you need a special model, a real glider, or even special tooling for a civilor military airplane production please do not he s itateto contact us.
